

What Is the Livability Index?

AARP's Livability Index rates every U.S. city, town and neighborhood in seven categories important to our members. This year's ratings, calculated from more than 50 unique data sources, were released in June. Search the entire index, see how your community rates and compare communities at livabilityindex.aarp.org. At right, we list the communities with the highest ratings and denote which have major four-year universities.

THE BEST FOR...

- HEALTH
Prevention, access and quality
- HOUSING
Affordability and access
- ENGAGEMENT
Civic and social involvement
- OPPORTUNITY
Inclusion and possibilities
- ENVIRONMENT
Clean air and water

● NEIGHBORHOODS

Access to life, work and play

● TRANSPORTATION

Safe and convenient options

*Includes a major four-year university