

Nairobi Day School: Remembering Who We Are

(left to right): Anastasia Burner as Wilma Rudolph; Nat Washington as Frederick Douglass; Nicole Cuppa as Mary McLeod Bethune and at bottom is Marcella Beckum as Queen Nefertiti. — Photos by Catalina Guevara

Last week, students at Nairobi Day School observed Black History Month in a very personal manner. By dressing-up as figure from Black History, they explored the richness of black culture, both in America and around the world.

Teacher Mrs. Mott teaches students about their heritage.

(left to right): Lamel Young as Stevie Wonder; Priscilla Isley as the Queen of Sheba; Naja Houston as Sojourner Truth.