About the Kids' Art of Open Space

When the Kids' Art of Open Space was first started in 1997, it was a simple idea: to give children a chance to express their love for nature and the outdoors. Over the years, the program has grown and now includes a variety of activities and projects. The Kids' Art of Open Space is a great way for children to learn about the environment and to have fun at the same time.

Open Space

Open Space is a program of the Midpeninsula Regional Open Space District. It is a great way for children to learn about the environment and to have fun at the same time. The program includes a variety of activities and projects, such as nature walks, art projects, and field trips. Open Space is a great way for children to learn about the outdoors and to have fun at the same time.
