Four principals named in Ravenswood district

Four principalships were filled Tuesday night in the predominantly Negro Ravenswood City School District, two of them by Negro educators.

The district's board of trustees approved the four at a special meeting. This fills all the vacant administrative posts, the district's new superintendent, John Minor, said today.

There are still 12 kindergarten teaching posts open, however, and a need for a third and fifth grade teacher, eight remedial reading teachers, a combination reading-art teacher and many substitute teachers, Minor said.

signed for the same reasons as McFate.

Hayman has taught for 5½ years and has a master's degree in education from Stanford University. He lived at 99-E Escondido Village, Stanford.

Vice Principal at Belle Haven School will be John W. Fordham, 42, of 5022 Bela Drive, Sa Jose, currently a head teacher in the Sunnyvale Elementary School District.

He holds a B.S. degree from New York University and has done graduate work at Fordham University and San Jose State College. His position was for-
