

To have someone to love is to be someone to love.

To love is to be loving.

A relationship must be first built on friendship.

Before you can love someone, you must like that person.

Of one thing, you can be sure; life will be with you until the end.

When you're in love, you're at peace.

It depends on what you're looking for to know whether or not you've found it,

Don't do what you don't feel.

Love without wisdom is life without freedom.

Your body is an extension of your mind.

Instead of judging, try measuring.

Tomorrow begins today.

For a better tomorrow, work on it today.

Don't depend on another to measure your worth on this earth.

Love is the best way to live everyday.

To say you love someone is confirmation of your satisfaction.

Listen to your inner voice to make a better choice.

Happiness depends on having an attitude that wins.

As long as your nature is at peace, love will never cease.

Value yourself before you value someone else.

You're just as important as you think another is important.

Know your own worth on this earth.

It's on you to be irregardless of what you see.

If you learn to give love, you must learn to receive love.

---